Yale University

Ranjit Bindra, M.D., Ph.D. Assistant Professor Departments of Therapeutic Radiology and Experimental Pathology Yale University School of Medicine P.O. Box 208040, HRT 134 New Haven, CT 06520-8040 Street address: 333 Cedar Street

Phone: (203) 200-3672 Fax: (203) 785-3023 E-mail: ranjit.bindra@yale.edu

November 12, 2013

The DIPG Collaborative The Cure Starts Now Foundation 10280 Chester Road Cincinnati, OH 45215

Re: The Cure Starts Now Foundation Award

Dear Review Committee:

I am pleased to accept the award for our grant, entitled "Pre-Clinical Development of Novel DIPG Radiosensitizers." Below are responses to your requests, as stipulated in the award letter.

- We confirm receipt of the grant, and that you may post on your website that such a grant has been made for $100,000.
- We confirm that the study will begin within 6 months of the award date. The IACUC final approval of our mouse protocol is pending, as minor amendments are required; we expect this to be completed within the next ~2 months.
- Attached is a copy of my W-9 form.
- We confirm that the results and progress of the funded study will be used in a collaborative manner with other institutions that can further the progress of DIPG research, inclusive of involvement by other participating institutions in the DIPG Collaborative.
- My contact information is listed above as requested in the award letter.
- We confirm that in all future publications, published data, presentations, web pages, blogs or other references to the grant and supporters, the parties listed in the award letter will be named as sponsors of the protocol.

Please do not hesitate to contact me if any additional information. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Rangit & Bindra

Ranjit Bindra, M.D., Ph.D. Assistant Professor of Therapeutic Radiology and Experimental Pathology